

AMAN ZAVERI

647-676-8981 | a2zaveri@uwaterloo.ca | LinkedIn | GitHub

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to express my enthusiastic interest in the Sales Support position at Redstone Foods Ltd, as advertised. The opportunity to join a growing, Canadian-owned bakery group like Redstone Foods, especially at a brand new production facility, is incredibly exciting, and I am confident that my skills and experience align perfectly with the requirements of this role. I am particularly drawn to the description's emphasis on detail orientation, quick thinking, and a good sense of humor, as these are qualities I strive to embody in my work.

My background in developing and managing technical platforms makes me a strong candidate for this position. For example, I have hands-on experience developing web-based platforms, including real-time analytics platforms with Flask and PostgreSQL. I also built and maintained full-stack platforms with Next.js, Prisma, and PostgreSQL with multi-profile management. These experiences translate directly to developing and maintaining Redstone Foods' web-based sample request and product development platforms, ensuring efficient operations and client satisfaction.

Furthermore, my organizational skills and ability to manage multiple priorities are well-honed. I have a proven track record of automating pipelines and optimizing workflows, as demonstrated by automating event anomaly-detection pipelines using Selenium + PGVector, reducing processing time by 75%. I am confident I can bring this efficiency to the sales support role, assisting with product trials and first production runs, collecting and organizing data to populate technical data sheets and marketing briefs effectively. I am eager to apply my skills to support Redstone Foods' sales department and contribute to the success of this dynamic organization.

Aman Zaveri